

Cboe FX Prints & Cboe FX Snap Data Feeds

Cboe FX Prints

The Cboe FX Prints entitlement will deliver all trades executed on the Hotspot Order Book, including time of execution, price, volume, and bought/sold indication.

Customers can utilize their current Cboe FX ITCH sessions to receive the enhanced offering, which includes the following benefits:

- Data points from all trades executed on the Hotspot Order Book (ECN)
- Continuous dissemination of intraday trade executions with a 1 minute delay for reduced market impact
- Trade size, price, direction, and timestamp with millisecond precision for improved data quality and back-testing functionality

Cboe FX Snap

Cboe FX Snap subscribers will receive snapshots of the following metrics every five seconds for each selected currency pair:

- Aggregate volume during the preceding five second interval
- Aggregate volume over the course of the trade day

Like Cboe FX Prints, the Cboe FX Snap feed includes data points from all trades executed on the Hotspot Order Book, and can be accessed on customers' current Cboe FX ITCH sessions

Pricing

All customers will receive the first month of subscription free, with subsequent cost determined by the number of entitled sessions per customer. Bundled packages are also available at discounted rates. Please contact your Director of Sales for additional information.
